DR. MILLER RETIRES

The retirement of Dr. Arthur W. Miller, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, and the appointment of Dr. Bennett T. Simms to succeed him were announced early in October. Dr. Miller is a veteran of more than 44 years continuous service in the Bureau of Animal Industry. His duties have consisted largely in directing the control and eradication of animal diseases. In addition, Dr. Miller had wide experience in Federal meat inspection and supervision of operations of packers and stockyards under the Federal Packers and Stockyards Act, which he administered for a number of years. He became assistant chief of the Bureau January 1, 1928, and was appointed chief August 1, 1943. He retired October 31, 1945.

Dr. Simms is a graduate of Alabama Polytechnic Institute, with the degree of D. V. M. He spent a year in graduate work in pathology and bacteriology at the University of Chicago and in 1913 went to the Oregon State College as assistant professor of veterinary medicine. Since April 1, 1938, Dr. Simms has been in charge of the U. S. D. A. Regional Animal Disease Research Laboratory at Auburn, Ala. He has been active in veterinary and scientific organizations and is president-elect of the American Veterinary Medical Association.
